FUNDING AND SUPPORT

And Now for A Little Background Music

Art Matters began three years ago as the brainchild of Michael Golden, Yael Wand, Julie Fowler Ruthie Sumiko Tabata and Declan O'Driscoll. The festival was created to be a village square for the vibrant art scene at Concordia; they believed the talent found within this University was powerful enough to support a two week long festival that would attract not only other students but also other Montrealers. For us this festival matters because it proves what Concordia students can accomplish when they work together. This year Art Matters is a product of the Art MATters Executive, IITS, The Void, the VAV, the Iranian Students Association, Fibres Association, the Hive, ASFA, the Dean of Students, the CSU, Auxiliary services, Concordia Distribution, the Council of Representatives, FASA and more, working together to support the creative ideas of over 185 students

As producers, we are given the privilege of defining what Art Matters will mean for our year. Over the summer the two of us were scattered over the globe and though a flurry of emails and MSN chats we began to focus on what the goals of next years festival would be. Reflecting on the nature of Concordia we realized that because of the size of our school very few events bring all students together.

Within the fine arts department itself it's rare to see a studio arts student at a play or a cinema student at design show. We felt that our goal would be a festival that would bring Concordia students together. We began by making partnerships with anybody that would talk to us and as the long list above shows a lot of people listened. We also put art in well traveled parts of the school such as the Mezzanine and library atrium, to make it more visible and accessible to non fine arts students. We also figured that if we wanted Montreal to pay attention to our art we would have to bring the festival to Montreal. So this year we began to focus on putting up shows in venues outside of school by booking venues in the Belgo building and in the downtown YMCA. As the festival unrolls we look forward to seeing the school come together and Montreal come into the school.

One last thought. What you are going to see over the next two weeks is very special. We are proud to say Art Matters is the only festival of its kind in Canada. We don't mean to brag but the reason for this is that Concordia is the only University in Canada with the creativity, talent and dedication to pull this type of event off.

Craig Desson & Emily Pearlman
(Co-producers)

- Art Matters is a festival of Fine Arts that celebrates and supports the young artists and developing talent housed at Concordia University, setting a precedent for Universities throughout Canada.
- Art Matters is a Fine Arts festival created by the students of Concordia University for the students of Concordia University and the community at large.
- Through the Fine Arts Student Alliance, Art Matters works hand in hand with Concordia University for funding and support, but remains the property of the students.
- Art Matters respects and promotes innovations and expressions of art in all disciplines, encouraging diversity by being as inclusive and representative as possible to all faculties, genres, styles and forms of Fine Arts.
- Art Matters aims to unify the fine arts communities split between the two Concordia campuses and develop communication between all the departments within the Faculty of Fine Arts.
- Art Matters welcomes artistic collaboration with the other faculties at Concordia.
- Art Matters is a festival that creates an atmosphere of joy in artistic expression, exploration and collaboration.
- Art Matters is a multi-lingual festival, open to all art forms in any languages.
- Art Matters aims to provide artists with real education skills and to give them the tools to promote themselves and their Art in the real world by exposing the greater Montreal area to emerging young artists.
- Art Matters will only accept sponsorship from organizations that will not affect the integrity of the artists.
- Art Matters makes it known that Art Matters.

CLOSING PARTY FEATURING DIGITIZE

Location TBA - Check <http://artmatters.concordia.ca> for details

A live digital event inspiring a social environment full of music, visuals, and dancing. Drawing on the contemporary culture of the club scene, these innovative emerging artists, Pamela Schneider, Melissa Weigel, and Dylan David Wagner combine multi-faceted music, vivacious video and contemporary choreography into an interactive electro dance extravaganza. The gentle tug of war between the visual and the aural is the focus of Digitize; an unconventional multimedia installation and live dance performance, which will seamlessly transform from performance to party.

Davis is an interdisciplinary artist based in Toronto. She has exhibited widely across Canada and throughout the world since the mid 1980's. In this slide talk, Davis discusses her previous works and the research and methods that led her to create a new installation: Tlon, or how I held in my hand a vast methodical fragment of an unknown planet's entire history.

SPEAKERS

Thur. March 6th 7PM

ALLI STAR - PERFORMING POLITICS

School of Community and Public Affairs, 2149 McKay Street

Talk by Alli Star and guests, followed by a discussion about art in activism in Montreal.

Alli Starr is the founder of Cultural Links in San Francisco and the co-founder of Art and Revolution, a multi-city movement of artist-activists who have revitalized political action throughout the United States. Ms. Starr's work as the coordinator of the NO WTO Road Show, the Power to the People Democracy Action Tour, and the Another World is Possible Southwest Roadshow as well as her involvement as a choreographer and performer with San Francisco based Dancers Without Borders, has given her an inside perspective on the interrelationship between art and activism. Ms. Starr work also includes coordinating opening performances for Michael Franti and Spearhead's Stay Human Tour in February 2000.

Sat. March 8th 1-3PM

MAKING DANCE THAT MATTERS: DANCE-THEATRE FOR ACTIVISTS

VISUAL ARTS

BONKIF

¬ Naked/Nude

Benjamin Rodger, Natalie Reis, Arianna Garcia-Fialquis.
A collective exhibition of figurative paintings. The artists canvass public and private realms of the human body, while further drawing on issues regarding gender and representation. The art works explore issues of covert intimacy and bodily experience, and how these concepts disrupt personal and shared space on physical and metaphysical levels.

SCHEDULE AND LISTINGS

Fri. March 7th - Fri. March 13th (Vernissage Sat. March 8th)

INSTALLATION ART AND SCULPTURE

STUDIO 306

¬ Hard Balls, Tight Boxes and Lots of Time

¬ A Connection

Aaron Reaume

Harvest yesterdays/Be in the now/Imagine a tomorrow. The work on display is a large multimedia kinetic sculpture. It represents the culmination of three intensive months of production.

¬ The Vigil

Stephen Helsing and Marcelo Coehlo

Pretty close to making time happen. We designed it, made it and still it makes no sense to us.

¬ Insert

Tiffiny Main

Finished plywood structure which expands and contracts.

Fri. March 7th - Fri. March 21st

PHOTOGRAPHY

YMCA

¬ Photographies Irrialistes

Zoe Letendre

Ces personnages et ces lieux ont tous eu une existence réelle. Ils ont fait partie de l'histoire, de l'inconscient collectif, ou simplement de l'imaginaire de quelques personnes. Il revient aux spectateurs de discerner le vrai du faux.

¬ Light And Contrast

Allen McEachern

Through the use of an analogue camera and a digital dark room I have attempted to create images that reflect my environments. In order to draw comparisons between the two, The City Environment and The Natural Environment, I have placed Light and Contrast as my respective subjects.

¬ Treegirl

Jessie Kotler

Having no respect for privacy, I intrusively took a photo of a girl I don't know in a park in Paris, pressed all the buttons on photo-shop, and created this emotional piece.

Fri. March 7th - Fri. March 21st (Vernissage Tues. March 18th)

HIVE

¬ Colour & Creation

Painting and Drawing Association

Colour and Creation is a group of works by members of the Painting and Drawing Association. Although highly diversified, our works are unified through the use of colour to create a show of "eye candy."

¬ Pope

Kajin Goh

¬ "a b s e n c e"

Melissa Faguey

I was interested in exploring the aspects of what happens when and why someone loses sight of themselves, since it seems that more and more people are interested in financial gain, rather than true happiness.

¬ Windwriting

Chantal Picard

This multimedia installation in the form of a mini labyrinth focuses on textures and the artist's interpretation of various maps on select regions of south Asia and the middle east which is then fused with a collage of writings in English, Arabic, and other languages. These are presented on three sheets of wind with a base note of Earth element.

¬ Ceramic Environments

Shawn Mackniak

My ceramic environments are composed of forms that contain every type within their expressive shapes, forms and interactions. All societal interactions are expressed within the malleable ceramic form. These pieces will take over, invade, and infect the Hive.

¬ 5 melancholy monstrosities

Stephen Allin

Pen and ink drawings of 5 melancholy monstrosities

SCHEDULE AND LISTINGS

Fri. March 7th - Fri. March 14th (Vernissage Tues. March 8th 5-8PM)

PHOTOGRAPHY & PAINTINGS

BRUTOPIA

¬ Fragments

Roxy Massey, Tariza Bowyer, Ali Shaker and Jean-Yves Hamel

Fragments is a collective exhibition of black and white photography and abstract painting. These works are meditative, in that they question how our shared experiences are a reflection of our changing world. By concurrently fusing abstraction and representation, as well as social and political concerns, the artists present us with an array of challenging art works.

¬ We Are Everywhere

Suzanne Smith

A collection of photographs taken at the G20, IMF, and World Bank protests held in Ottawa, November, 2001. This project is an attempt to break away from mass/corporate media and its depiction/ stereotype of who attended these demonstrations and to create an alternative documentation to this historical event.

¬ Philomel

Allysha Larsen.

This work is intended to work as a interactive mediator between my feelings of empathy for the murdered women of Vancouver's east end, and my more rational outrage in knowing that the system failed these women and in doing so contributed to their deaths. The piece investigates police misconduct in the case of the missing women, while exploring issues of connection in society

¬ Bigger is Better - Make it Bigger

Allison Moore

A fifteen foot high banner portrait of George W. Bush explores certain social correlations within American Patriotism and its connections to the masculine identity.

¬ Picket Fence Buffer

Emily Storey

A large scale installation about the modern and historical roles of the middle class in North American society. The work deals with racism, classism and inequality as perpetuated by Universities, the media, government, big business and hundreds of years of calculated conditioning.
